Discussing subarachnoid hemorrhage in trauma patients

<https://youtu.be/GY6ODvZiwP4>

When you see trauma patients with subarachnoid hemorrhages, it's easy to assume that the hemorrhage was a direct result of the trauma. But what if the occurrence of the trauma was actually secondary to the hemorrhage? In this video from our Brain CT Essentials course, we'll discuss two unusual cases of patients presenting with subarachnoid hemorrhages after trauma and why you shouldn't always believe what you see.
